

Your opinion matters to us!

Welcome to the SymptomSurvey!

Around the World, we are affected by the pandemic, but flu-like symptoms and the common cold have existed before, and they will exist after COVID. The symptoms that bother us most, may not always get the full attention of doctors and nurses. Yet, it is important that healthcare workers become aware of our healthcare priorities.

The SymptomSurvey is designed by patient organizations, NGO's, and medical associations to educate healthcare workers about what matters most to us when we experience COVID, flu or flu-like illness.

Note: we are asking you about your opinion on the importance of symptoms, not whether you have experienced a particular symptom or not.

Make your vote count and complete the SymptomSurvey today. The survey is voluntary, it takes about 30 minutes of your time. The survey is anonymous: you will need to complete it in one go and no one will be able to track which survey was completed by whom. The results will be reported as a group, and published on the SymptomSurvey website and in medical journals. We may also use lessons learned from the Survey to improve the training for physicians and nurses.
